Canvas

Updated 7/2023

PLEASE NOTE: These instructions should be appropriate for all users with Instructor-level permissions or above, depending on their institutional settings, provided proper tool integration steps have already been completed.

1. Go into the course where you wish to use Oxford resources.
2. Create a new module for your Oxford resources.
 - i. Click the “+Module” button in the upper right.
 - ii. Name the new module, and click “Add Module”.
 - iii. Click the grey slashed circle to change the module to “published” so students may access it, if desirable.
3. Click the “+” at the top of the new module, and select “External Tool” from the drop-down.

4. There will be a list of all of the tools available in your course. Look for one titled something like “Oxford Learning Link LTI 1.3” (the suggested name from our tool setup document), and click its name.
 - a. Please note: If you do not see an Oxford tool, please check with your LMS admin to assure the tool registration is complete, and that they have allowed it in your course.
5. A screen will load that shows all products to which you have access. Provided you have gone through the usual process to gain access to Oxford resources, you should have access to the product(s) you have adopted.

Click the name of the product from which you would like to import resources (usually [Title] Student Resources).

Please Note: While instructors can add resources from any product to which they have access, students will NOT be able to access Instructor-only resources, and will need to purchase or redeem access to any Student resources.

Please Also Note: The LTI 1.3 protocol does not support QTI question bank imports; if instructors wish to import Test Banks for their titles natively into their system, they will need to import these separately via the Test Bank course package (where available).
